

Peter Frisch GmbH becomes official distributor of Future Safety Helmets

February 19, 2025 Future Safety a leading manufacturer of multi-purpose helmets is pleased to appoint Peter Frisch GmbH as the official distributor. This partnership marks an exciting new chapter for both partners to expanding their presence in strategic markets by offering customers an innovative and versatile head protection for their missions.

Future Safety is renowned for its innovative approach to helmet design, offering advanced, durable, and highly versatile helmets suitable for a wide range of applications, including offshore, rescue and military sectors. With this new distribution agreement, Peter Frisch GmbH will now provide these cutting-edge products to customers throughout Germany, Austria and Switzerland.

“We are thrilled to be partnering with Future Safety, a brand known for its excellence and forward-thinking helmet innovations,” said Hubertus Juergens, CEO of Peter Frisch GmbH. “This collaboration allows us strengthen our portfolio in the division FRISCH Professional and offer our clients superior head safety equipment that meets the highest standards of protection and performance.”

Statement Colin Holmes, CEO of Future Safety: „Future Safety Ltd is excited to announce a new partnership with Peter Fisher GMBH as our distributor for Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. We believe their expertise and presence in these specialist markets will be a perfect fit for our offerings.“

About Future Safety:

Future Safety is a UK-based manufacturer known for its innovation in safety equipment, particularly in the development of multi-purpose helmets. Combining cutting-edge technology with a commitment to quality, Future Safety aims to set new standards in the safety industry.

About Peter Frisch GmbH:

FRISCH PROFESSIONAL stands for maximum reliability and technical excellence. By working closely with emergency services and experts, we develop practical solutions that prove themselves in the most demanding environments - on the high seas, in urban crisis areas or under extreme climatic conditions. Our aim is not just to supply equipment, but to create comprehensive solutions that ensure operational success and safety. Equipment for your mission - mission-proven, innovative solutions that make the difference at the decisive moment.

