DuckoChat - the most inventive duck in ThePond

DuckoChat analyzes and compares office documents across industries, summarizes them upon request, and answers questions with text references. Equipped with a long-term memory, the AI continuously learns from queries and corrections and uses this knowledge at the next opportunity.

The chatbot uses a custom-trained AI model that does not transmit data streams to other or external AI services. Additionally, each customer receives their own dedicated infrastructure, which is not operated in a shared environment with others.
