As a renowned German shooting targets manufacturer, Pinnecke & Engelhardt GmbH has been producing and supplying shooting targets, combat targets, and forms for the police, German Armed Forces, authorities, and security services since the 1950s. In addition to these traditional clients, the company has also been supplying private individuals and sports shooters for over 30 years.

Through this market expansion, the company has steadily expanded its product range. As a result, P&E GmbH manufactures both common standards and individual solutions according to customer requirements.

With in-house production "Made in Germany" and the use of various printing methods, the company can print and process various materials such as plastic, wood, and cardboard according to customer preferences.

In addition to targets for public clients, the company also offers all common targets for various sports shooting associations and unique custom-made targets.

"P&E GmbH produces state-of-the-art equipment for shooting cinemas, considering the individual requests of our customers regarding screens and splinter protection. This is the focus of our services," says Managing Director Jens Handkammer.

"Trust the expertise of a traditional company also in terms of accessories. Our range is diverse and includes, for example, gun oils, cleaning materials, shooting mats, shot patches, and more. By the way, wooden products such as shooting tables, support stands, target frames, and more are also available from us," adds Managing Director Handkammer.

The company, based in Braunschweig, has been producing shooting targets for the German Armed Forces with around 60 employees since 1950. Since 1913, the company has been located in Braunschweig and is privately owned.
