At PAWR, we're more than just a company - we're a family! We are Erik and Fia, the father-daughter team behind our pawsome brand. As an experienced veterinarian and a nutritionist of the next generation, we are dedicated to providing the best diet for our furry friends with the power of plants.

We strive to make a difference not only in the well-being and happiness of dogs but also in creating a positive influence on the world.

We firmly believe that plant-based dog nutrition is a win-win solution, benefiting both our furry friends' health and the world around us. With PAWR, we have crafted a brand that offers optimal nourishment for dogs while promoting a more sustainable future. We invite you to join us on this journey and discover why PAWR is the fur-real deal for a happier dog and a healthier world!
