About us

At Zan Projectiles, we are driven to continue and improve the design, performance and production of the popular ranges of precision airgun slugs and pellets for the airgun market. w

With a variety and variation of all the popular calibers, weights and sizes;

Pellets .25 and .30 caliber

Slug sample boxes from .177 to .30 caliber

.177 caliber: 10 - 20 grain

.20 cal: 15 - 25 grain

.22 caliber: 20 - 40 grain

.25 caliber: 26.5 - 45 grain

.30 caliber: 45.5 - 68 grain

ELR slugs .22 & .25

.35 caliber: 81 - 125 grain

457 caliber: 250 & 388 grain

With our own unique lead formula, advanced forging/casting knowledge and understanding, combined with our own Ballistician's advanced laboratory testing and design methods, we have successfully achieved repeatable precision, rapid yet controlled expansion, even at lower velocities or at longer ranges with the advantages of a flat shooting projectile with superior wind deflection capabilities due to our projectile's superior Ballistic Coefficient.

With the Combination of high Ballistic Coefficient and rapid expansion, Zan Projectiles is the number one choice for long range shooting and performance.

NEW PRODUCT

BR50 .30 / 47 grain / 7,62 mm - 154 pcs

BR100 .30 / 56 grain / 7,62 mm - 154 pcs

Pellets BR50 & BR100

No more pellet sorting!

ZAN Projectiles new high precision game changing pellets line. Introducing new high performance BR50 and BR100 pellets with unmatched weight and head/skirt consistency.

In the first place it is designed for 100m bench rest competition, where wind drift, weight and uniformity of the pellets means winning or losing.

BR50 is a lighter version of BR100 but fighting wind better, keeping it stable at longer distances.

Both comes with unique packing, providing best possible protection of the pellets, which assure you are getting only perfect pellets on your bench.

In competition, nothing should be left to coincidence. You can achieve that only if it is made with passion and striving to perfection.

.25 FAT BOY

The Fat Boy .25 pellet has landed. For high and lower power rifle systems the Fat Boy has the perfect ballistic capabilities for short, medium and longer range hunting and competition situations.

With precision hand selected quality pellets combined with our individually packed ammunition trays, this completely illuminates the need to "sort your pellets" with confidence they will shoot as good as they look!

If you want the ultimate in long range performance then look no further than the slugs in this category!

Designed and built for higher power airguns with superior ballistics in mind, these slugs have unmatched ballistic performance. Whether you are a serious competition shooter or a long range hunter these are the slugs for you!

Having a larger Cross sectional density results in these slugs also- having a very high Ballistic coefficient which help reduce aerodynamic drag and minimise wind deflection.

These slugs have been designed for high power air rifles at velocities between 850 -1000fps and with a Ballistic coefficient ranging between 0.170 up to 0.21 (Subject to chosen slug, velocity and environmental conditions) these are the ultimate in long range performance.

.457 / 11.6 mm Big bore slugs

Get excited for the latest addition to Zan Projectiles' lineup – the 457 slugs! These innovative slugs boast unparalleled precision and velocity, ensuring the same exceptional performance you've come to expect from Zan Projectiles. With 50 slugs per box and an unbeatable price, these slugs are sure to fly off the shelves. Whether you're seeking to elevate your big bore game or simply looking for the best, these slugs are a must-have.

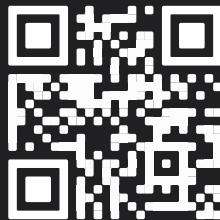

Our newly developed 380 and 250 grain 457 swaged slugs are the most consistent and affordable 457 slugs available on the market. Our new swaging technique ensures that these slugs will fit perfectly in all 457 barrels. The deep hollow point design guarantees that these slugs will expand upon impact, making them ideal for hunting or metal plinking. In addition, they offer a high ballistic coefficient due to the Boat Tail.
