

Is your production at risk due to capacity issues or a supplier shutting down?

Handing over ongoing projects isn't easy. You need to ensure consistent quality, keep lead times under control, and make sure existing tools are up and running without delays. The risk of disruption is real and that's why choosing the right partner matters.

At BUVO, we understand these challenges and specialize in the takeover of HPDC and Machining projects by using a standard script.

Recent years, BUVO successfully took over 20 projects for leading companies such as: Hella, Mekra Lang, Thomas Magnete, Hilite and EBM papst.

Beyond HPDC, BUVO offers processes as: precision machining, assembly, surface treatments and washing – all supported by a competent quality team to guarantee excellence every step of the way.

BUVO Delivers:

-  Dedicated capacity for takeover projects to guarantee a seamless takeover without delays
-  In-house tool shop → existing tools operational on our machines within 2 weeks
-  Short lead times for new tooling
-  Design collaboration to optimize tooling efficiency and quality
