OUR STORY

The founder of Pomppa, Meri Alku, made the first Pomppa coats for her agility dogs back in 2008. Her goal was to design timeless and durable products that would allow complete freedom of movement and offer functional solutions for a happy life.

We may have strong roots in the dog sport community, yet Pomppa is for everyone seeking to have fun and connect with their dog on a deeper level. We believe that nurturing that special bond between dogs and humans is the key to a life full of happiness, health and unity – for both us and our dogs!

Our purpose is to bring joy to the world
by celebrating the special bond between dogs and their humans.

We envision Pomppa as a trailblazing force in the world of dogs,
spreading positivity with every step we take.

We are guided by a strong set of values,
which emphasize the dog's well-being, valuing
each other and respecting the environment.

Freedom of Movement

Our design is fully based on the dog's natural physiology, allowing complete freedom of movement.

Circular Commitment

All new Pomppa products are designed for the circular economy.

Designed in Finland

We know the wild North, so every detail is designed with consideration for the unpredictable weather.

Timeless Design

Pomppa coats stand the test of time,
as products purchased over a decade ago are still in active use today.

Colors of Happiness

We find joy in bold & playful colors and strive to spread the feeling around us.

A photograph of two dogs running through a forest. The dog in the foreground is a brown and white beagle-like breed, wearing a bright lime green vest over a black long-sleeved shirt. It is running towards the camera with its mouth open. The dog in the background is a similar breed, wearing a purple vest, and is running away from the camera. The background is a blurred forest with trees and foliage.
