

Experience Values with Joy

Mawi GmbH is a family-run company based in Bavaria, passionately dedicated to equipping kindergartens and daycare centers. Our goal: to help children experience values through play – and to provide educators with the right products, ideas, and inspiration to make that happen.

Whether through building, discovering, or digital learning – our products create joy, excitement, and educational value. We encourage children to explore the world with heart and mind while supporting educators in promoting media literacy, creativity, and social skills in everyday life.

Awarded Quality & Lived Values

- Attention to detail and the highest quality standards
- Sustainable materials and fair production partners
- Educationally tested concepts developed with professionals from practice
- Innovative digital products for modern kindergartens

Our values are reflected in everything we do – from product development and customer care to packaging. For us, quality means more than just a good product – it means responsibility towards people, nature, and the future.

Our Mission

Children are our future. We want them to experience values such as mindfulness, teamwork, and the joy of learning – every single day. Our work goes beyond toys – it's about creating lasting experiences and moments that make children strong for life.

We support educators on their journey with practical ideas, training, and innovative concepts combining digital and analog learning. Our educational products foster not only traditional skills but also future-oriented competencies such as media literacy and sustainable thinking.

Or as we like to say:

“Experience Values with Joy.”
