OPENLAND TACTICAL INCOGNITO RIFLE BACKPACK

OPT-16561

The Openland Tactical Incognito Rifle Backpack is designed for discreet and organised transport of a rifle and related equipment, with an understated appearance that does not immediately resemble a conventional tactical case.

Made of 100% 600D polyester, it features a large, fully opening main compartment with internal retention systems to secure equipment during transport. Front pockets provide additional storage for accessories and support equipment, with compartments, elastic retainers and mesh pockets.

The padded, adjustable shoulder straps can be stowed in dedicated compartments in the back panel, quickly converting the backpack into a carry bag using the side handles. This allows shoulder or hand carrying while keeping the straps protected and concealed when not in use.

The front hook-and-loop panel allows identification patches to be attached, making this a versatile solution for professional, operational and sporting use.
