

KAMPOL

The KAMPOL brand has been producing food for zoology, pigeons, backyard and wild birds for almost 40 years. We are a European leader in a grain processing for the feed and food industries.

Our long history is a proof of our passion and commitment to developing healthy and sustainable animal nutrition.

As a manufacturer, we put a great emphasis on the quality of raw materials. All products are carefully selected and then subjected to rigorous testing in the company's laboratory.

This allows us to ensure that each product meets high standards of quality and safety. We operate in the HACCP, GMP+ and BIO food security systems.

Our feed is carefully composed to provide animals with all the essential nutrients necessary for the healthy and stable growth of your pets. Our company is distinguished by its dynamic operation and constant expansion. We are ready for challenges and we are constantly expanding our product offer, as evidenced by over 100 types of feed that we have in our portfolio. The determination to constant grow makes us a partner ready to meet any challenge, which, in addition to products, also provides many other values.
