Because it helps us not have that terrible thought: "I should have noticed before!"

Because prevention saves the cat a lot of suffering and its owner a lot of money when an advanced disease is discovered.

With a sick cat, having the possibility to check the state of health in advance helps us live more peacefully.

Because it generates profits

Because it generates professionalism in the sale of an innovative, highly technical and specialized product.

Because it builds loyalty in the relationship with the customer and wins their trust, conveying interest in the health of animals.

"It changes color when it detects traces of occult blood in the cat's urine."

Because prevention is better than cure

Because your owner shows you love even by thinking about your health, not just by cuddling you.

Because fortunately we are living longer and longer and we increasingly need treatment and prevention.

Because GOO+VET DETECTOR is an incentive for prevention

Because prevention leads the most satisfied customers to speak well of the veterinary clinic

Because it creates a tacit partnership between pet shop and veterinary clinic
