

We have been manufacturing of “PVC Door & Window Hardware” in TURKEY since 1987.

T&T can also produce specially designed products to meet the specific demands of its customers with all kinds of molds produced in its molding house.

T&T, took its first step into window and door accessories sector with the production of hinges. It became an international brand with its quality products and has reached a wide product range with adding new products to it’s portfolio every year.

Unlimited customer satisfaction and quality production are the key principles. In line with this principles T&T brand products are produced according to ISO-9001 / 2015 and IATF 16949 quality standards. The quality of T&T brand products are tested and confirmed by IFT ROSENHEIM Institue.

Upon the increasing demand in the national and international markets, further investments have been made for new production lines and modern mould systems under automated and computer-controlled systems. Such significant progress in the process technology has resulted in increases in the production capacity and product quality as well as decreases in any possible mechanical failure in the products.

Mainly aiming for continuous improvement in technical properties and quality of its products, T&T offers a wide range of multipurpose solutions and high performance accessories for various systems of windows and doors technology. Moreover, the production plant and the products are periodically inspected by national and international authorities, where technical and mechanical analyses such as endurance-durability, pressure-stress, loading and cycle, surface treatment tests are performed.

Having reached a competitive level in the world market, T&T exports to 50 countries, mostly in the European Union, with a margin of 50% international and 50% domestic sales. With a powerful sales & marketing organization and technical support network, T&T is aware of its responsibility not only for product quality, but also for experienced technical and management staff with the mindset of qualified service.