

Zinco Company Profile

Zinco is one of the world's leading companies in the field of green roofing, whose market position is based on comprehensive expertise, innovative strength and decades of experience. The high quality of its products is the result of intensive research and continuous development. With project-specific consultancy and planning support, Zinco ensures structurally safe green roofs of the highest quality, whether for existing buildings or new builds.

Zinco's high-quality green roof systems are indispensable as part of green and blue infrastructure in cities to mitigate the effects of climate change, such as the urban heat island effect, heavy rainfall and flooding, as well as the sealing of natural areas. In addition to water retention and evapotranspiration, solar energy generation and biodiversity are of great importance – in every conceivable combination.

Zinco supports planners and building owners in creating attractive roofscapes with high ecosystem services. Inspiring projects, ranging from private roofs to large-scale public schemes, provide the impulses for ever-new green roof ideas that compensate for lost green spaces and create new habitats for people and nature.
