Company History

The idea for TNC Pets came from a family antler business, which has been strictly connected with the natural environment for generations. A significant part of our business includes collecting and exporting Red Deer antlers all over the world.

They are used as ingredients for traditional Chinese medicine in Asia, as well as by artists as raw material for the manufacture of handmade furniture and decorations. We realized that antlers, being the fastest-growing part of any animal's body, are rich in various beneficial nutrients and form long-lasting material. They would therefore make an excellent component of chew toys, dietary supplements and food ingredients for dogs.

All of TNC Pets' antlers are naturally shed by deer and collected in their natural open forest habitat (in quantities of up to hundreds of tons a year).

The deers' natural course of life is not in any way altered by humans - they are not fenced or fed any antibiotics, steroids or other artificial substances. The products we deliver are derived and processed safely, meeting the highest veterinarian and quality requirements. Our passion is to create natural goods of the best quality for pets.

We sell our products under our own 4DogsOriginal brand or we can produce them especially for you as your private label.

Antler Information

Antlers begin as cartilage and grow fast! Faster than any other bone grows - as much as three centimeters per day during the summer! As they grow, they are still soft, blood flows through them and they are covered in velvet (a thin skin of fur). When fully grown, they begin to harden, and the velvet dries and is rubbed off. In the winter the cartilage mineralizes into hard bone and then falls off.

Antlers are amazing natural structures. Scientists are studying them to unlock the secrets of fast cell regeneration and dogs are enjoying them in the form of food and toys!

Highly Nutritious: High in Protein, Calcium and Phosphorous. Low in fat. Also contain plenty of Magnesium, Sodium, Copper, Zinc and Iron. Left on the ground in the wilderness, it is said that mice and other animals consume antlers for their nutritional value.

The likelihood of accidents which occur from chewing deer antlers compared to pig bones or cow bones is very low. The antlers may have sharp edges, which may need to be sanded down. Do not allow your dog to consume more than 2 cm² per day.

Antlers are a great object for dogs to chew on and it is always a good idea to supervise your dog while he chews on it. No matter what chew toy or object you decide to go with, make sure you get the right size for your dog, choosing larger objects that don't fit all the way into his mouth, as this helps protect aggressive chewers and may reduce the risk of choking and obstruction. When an antler gets small enough to become a choking hazard it's time to take it away and get them a new one.

Antler Chews

Of all the dog treats and chews out there, every pooch has their favorite. Sometimes it can be quite hard to find the right snack for your dog, especially for the most health-conscious pet parents. Antler dog chews provide a great solution for doggies who like to chew and dog parents who don't want to worry about the ingredients of their dog's treat.

Deer antlers are an all-natural, long lasting chew toys your dog will love. Antlers chews are odor-free, will not splinter and will help keep your dog busy and out of trouble keeping his teeth clean. After all, chewing helps reduce plaque and tartar buildup, and it also redirects destructive tendencies and anxiety into an acceptable outlet. For owners of powerful chewers that destroy conventional chew toys in a manner of minutes, antlers seem like a gift from nature herself.

Benefits of Antler Chew

- Long-lasting! Antler chews last much longer than bully sticks or chews made of compacted starch or rawhide, saving you money on chew toys for powerful chewers.
- Safe chewing! Whole deer antlers for dogs are much less likely to chip or splinter than processed bones as the chewing grinds the antler chew down slowly.
- Healthy! Chew antlers contain many beneficial nutrients and minerals, very rich in calcium. All natural, no artificial ingredients. They're literally just antlers. They help promote healthy jaws and gums, while curbing your pet's chewing urges.
- Odor and stain-free! Antlers have virtually no odor or residue that can get on your carpet, sofa or furniture.
- Variety! Each antler chew differs in shape, thickness or even color. They are completely natural and no two identical pieces exist. There are whole pieces for stronger dogs, cut lengthwise to give easier access to the marrow, as well as flat fallow deer antler.

- Humane and sustainable! Animals aren't harmed for their antlers. They are shed naturally each season, picked up, cleaned, cut and ready for chewing.
- Antlers from TNC PETS are the best quality! As antlers for dog chews get more popular, some sellers are offering low quality, small, old, chalky, bulky and thick antlers that are likely to splinter. TNC Pets antlers are premium grade AA and fresh whole antler only!

Heather Root Chews

Our heather chews are another great 100% natural option for owners with aggressive, heavy chewers. These toys are made 100% in Europe from the air-dried roots or branches of Heath trees obtained from the collection and processing of an arboreal essence, cultivated with eco-sustainable methods. That makes them a perfect chew for dogs that have a history of chewing on furniture or sticks.

Unlike actual wood, though, these chews will not splinter and will not break up into sharp pieces that can hurt your dog. The dense and hard nature of the root will also ensure that even the most aggressive of chewers will not be able to make quick work of this chew. Roots are also very healthy as they contain loads of different minerals, which helps keep dogs' teeth healthy.

Churpi - Himalayan Cheese Chew

Himalayan cheese for dogs is a hard, healthy and natural chew. It helps take care of your dog's dental hygiene, removing excess tartar, while also being a healthy treat for dogs of all breeds! Churpi is easily digestible and lactose free!

Himalayan cheeses are made from the milk of Himalayan cows, which is subjected to a long and careful processing. First, the milk is boiled for an hour to remove all the fat and pasteurize it. Then a little salt and lime juice (only 0.01% total) are added to it for coagulation. The next step is pressing for 2-3 days to get rid of the moisture in the cheese. These blocks of cheese are cut into appropriately sized pieces and dried in a smoking chamber for as long as 20-30 days to become hard and acquire a delicate, smoky flavor.

Benefits of Churpi Chew

- Natural! Made from milk (99.99%) with salt and lime juice. The milk used in the production comes from free range Himalayan cows.
