// Company profile

Zhejiang Sanmei Chemical Ind. Co., Ltd., located in Wuyi County's New Materials Industrial Park (a provincial-level chemical park in Zhejiang), is a private joint-stock enterprise specializing in fluorochemical R&D, production, and sales. Listed on the Shanghai Stock Exchange in April 2019, the company offers over ten product varieties across two main series: organic fluorine and inorganic fluorine, including refrigerants and foaming agents.

Sanmei has established comprehensive quality, environmental, energy, and occupational health management systems. It operates two provincial-level innovation platforms—an enterprise technology center and research institute—and holds over 60 invention patents while contributing to more than 10 national standards.

Looking ahead, Sanmei aims to become a global leader in fluorine-based refrigerants and foaming agents, while advancing R&D and production in high-purity electronic chemicals, lithium battery materials, and high-performance polymer products.
