

RAJA, the first in Europe to launch FillPak®Mini, the most compact paper-based void filling machine on the market

RAJA, Europe's leading packaging distributor, announces the launch of the FillPak®Mini, an innovative paper-based void filling machine designed by its long-time partner Ranpak. Compact, efficient and easy to use, it will be available in 16 European countries from September 2025.

A machine designed for small spaces

Developed to meet the needs of e-retailers and logistics centres with limited space, the FillPak®Mini is the most compact paper-based void filling machine currently available on the market. Its clever design allows it to be placed directly on a table or shelf, even in environments where the use of void filling machines was previously impossible due to lack of space.

Compact technology for responsible packaging

The FillPak® Mini transforms reams of paper loaded into the back of the machine into crumpled paper that is used to fill empty spaces in parcels and protect products during transport. It guarantees fast, simple and environmentally friendly cushioning, while optimising the organisation of packing stations. With several operating modes (fixed length, batch, continuous), it adapts to all production speeds.

The FillPak®Mini works with recycled paper or the new Grasikraft, an innovative paper made from grass fibres and recycled fibres, recently launched by RAJA.

Versatile, it perfectly meets the requirements of many sectors: logistics, e-commerce, industry, retail, pharmaceuticals, electronics and many more.
