Quilting technologies
by Trans-Textil & Norafin

Your quilting manufacturer for high-quality quilted composites for heat and cold protection applications, protective clothing for public authorities, defence, outdoor and sportswear as well as mattresses and technical applications.

We offer a wealth of experience in the production of highly specialised quilted composites.

Working together for perfectly tailored products.

Made-to-measure quilting solutions

We focus first and foremost on combining your ideas with our technical expertise, passion and experience to create perfect quilting solutions tailored to your individual requirements.

We use your materials to manufacture high-quality quilted composites in line with your specific needs.

What's more, our customers have access to our broad portfolio of textile substrates, paddings and nonwoven fabrics.

"Sewn" together

With several decades of experience in developing and manufacturing technical special nonwovens and innovative functional textiles, Trans-Textil GmbH and Norafin Industries (Germany) GmbH are pooling their expertise with the SteppTEX team in a joint venture.

Through this collaborative approach, we are able to offer you a unique development and product portfolio from quilted composites to membrane laminates, finishings, coatings and textile printing right over to watertight seam-sealing solutions for clothing and numerous areas of application.

Individuality, speed and regional supply chains – for highest quality, short transport routes and a reliable partnership. With SteppTEX we don't merely create quilting solutions; we intertwine them with a long-lasting, trusting cooperation.

Whether for new custom developments, contract processing for your raw materials or sample quantities: we can draw on our modern multi-needle quilting machines, our wide range of designs and yarns, and our experienced specialist team to provide precise and reliable results, also for smaller production batches.
